

Please do not allow cellular telephones to be used during the inflight portion the flight. It will be too disruptive and annoying having people on their cell phones. It is already loud when people use their laptop computers and/or dvd players without headsets. Also, it is a safety issue if the flight crew is having to compete with cell phones when conducting their duties. The current rule of using cell phones while the aircraft door is open or during taxi after the plane has landed is sufficient.
